

FACTSS UPDATE: January 22, 2019

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The State Legislature will formally convene on March 5 and end on May 3, 2019. The legislature meets for a 60-day session, unless called back into session by the governor. FACTSS' government relations team, headed by Ellyn Bogdanoff, is meeting with the House and Senate leadership, along with state representatives and senators, to educate them on the ELSS issue, solicit their support, and seek sponsors for both the House and Senate bills. Now that the new governor has been sworn-in and his staff in place, Ellyn will be meeting with the governor's staff and Governor DeSantis on the ELSS issue.

The House and Senate have finished appointing committee chairs and committee members. The House subcommittees of interest will be chaired by Representative Heather Fitzenhagen (House Business and Professions Subcommittee) and Representative Bob Rommel (House Civil Justice Subcommittee). Both are from the Southwest Florida area. Rep. Fitzenhagen has served in the Florida House since 2012 and is well versed in community association issues. Rep. Rommel was elected in 2016, replacing Senator Kathleen Passidomo.

During January and February, legislative committees are meeting, bills being filed, and much preliminary work of the state legislature is done before the formal opening on March 5.
