

JOHN C. HERBST, CPA

FORT LAUDERDALE CITY COMMISSIONER, DISTRICT 1

We are currently experiencing the 2023 hurricane season, which runs from June 1st through November 30th. Water temperatures have been recorded at higher than usual numbers and NOAA is forecasting (70% certainty) that there will be 17 named storms (winds 39 mph or higher) this season. Of those storms, 5-9 are expected to become hurricanes, and 1-4 are predicted to develop into major hurricanes.

Click HERE for more NOAA 2023 Hurricane Season information. Please be prepared and do not wait for a storm to develop before undertaking storm preparations to protect your family, home and yourself. Create a hurricane supply kit now.

Kits may include:

- 3-5 days of nonperishable, ready to eat food
- 3-5 days of water (1 gallon per person per day)
- Battery powered flashlight
- First-Aid kit
- Reserve of prescription medications

For that and other helpful information on preparing for emergencies, find the City of Fort Lauderdale's Quick Tips Guide for preparing for an emergency HERE.

Stay informed and receive emergency alerts from the City by signing up at www.fortlauderdale.gov/alertftl.

Lets all stay safe and be prepared this 2023 hurricane season.
